

Seminar on Green Environment Energy Saving – Green Professional Certification Program

(Seminar Series 1)

How to Equip Yourself towards a Green Future

With the emerging challenges arising from global warming, pollution, landfill environmental problems, there is an imminent need for the building sector in Hong Kong, consisting of massive energy consumers, to focus more efforts and resources to evolve Hong Kong into a greener and smarter built environment. Green professionals and built associations have taken the lead to educate the community and to evolve the industry with commitments and intelligent solutions. This seminar aims to rouse the needs for such evolvement with the most updated information about professional credentials and related knowledge domains, to equip industry practitioners with a complete and clear understanding of professional development and certification scheme for their career development.

The seminar is ideal for architect, project manager, facilities manager, green building consultant, developer, sustainability coordinator, landscape architect, technical manager, energy engineer, MEP consultant, or anyone interested in understanding green and intelligent building principles, especially sustainable design, construction, management, purchasing, and plan to further commit their professional efforts towards the green evolution.
