Content	O · PARK1 is the first organic resources recovery centre, locating at Siu Ho Wan of North Lantau adopts anaerobic digestion technology to convert food waste into biogas (a source of renewable energy similar to natural gas) for electricity generation whilst the residues from the process can be produced as compost for landscaping and agriculture use. The current practice of disposing food waste in the landfills is not a sustainable solution as it consumes valuable landfill capacity and wasting the useful organic resources. Therefore, the most efficient and environmentally sound method of recycling food waste is to build a network of dedicated recycling plants. CIHAPB arranged two site tours for visiting the O · PARK1
