

Upcoming event: The RICS Hong Kong Construction Conference (12 May 2023)

The 2023 RICS Hong Kong Construction Conference is returning as a face-to-face event on 12 May at the Sheraton Hong Kong Hotel & Towers, with this year's theme being centred around the 'Design for Future, Build for Life' initiative. The event aims to revitalise the prosperity of the Construction industry by keeping industry professionals up to date with recent developments in the field. Furthermore, while continuing to look at industry changes from a QS standpoint, this year's event also aims to explore wider changes in the field.

Attendees will explore the future of the Hong Kong construction industry and network with both peers and industry experts to analyse and discuss key topics such as: solutions to the labour shortage and increases in construction costs, how to attract young talent, sustainability, and the latest technological developments.

The Chartered Institute of Housing Asian Pacific Branch is supporting this event. Access an exclusive rate typically only available to RICS members by selecting the Supporting Organization member option at checkout to gain access to this discounted rate.

The full programme and speaker list is listed on the event site – join the discussion.
